BERLIN, Sept. 17 — Chancellor Hitler today called for ultimate destruction of Czechoslovakia, immediate resignation of her president, Eduard Benes. Associated Press reported that Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, declared:

"The time is ripe for Benes to make his exit . . . just as his state must be scratched off the European map."

The demand came on the heels of Benes' declaration that Czechoslovakia will fight in the face of any agreement that may be reached between Germany, Britain and France for annexation of Czech's Sudetenland by the Reich.

'OUST BENES, END CZECHS'

Gardening, not war, is on the mind of Dr. Eduard Benes, Czech president, as strife threatens the peace of Europe. Benes is regarded as the most level-headed statesman involved in present crisis. A young neighbor is helping him prune the trees on his estate.

Hitler's New Demands

BERLIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Nazi press today violently attacked what newspapers called the "blood dictatorship" of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia and demanded his resignation in order to "extinguish a dangerous firebrand in the heart of Europe."

Chancellor Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter, declared:

"The time is ripe for Benes to make his exit from the European stage JUST AS HIS STATE MUST BE SCRATCHED OFF THE EUROPEAN MAP."

"The world permitted itself to be deluded in taking for democracy what from the very first day was a dictatorship of the Czechs."

"That is the Benes who was permitted to decide the fate of Europe for 20 years and who is responsible for a state that from the day of its origin was the source of unrest and the plague of Europe."

"Europe must join hands against Benes and his Bolshevik followers and in a united front repair the injury done to 3,500,000 persons during the past 20 years, extinguish the dangerous firebrand and thereby guarantee peace."

The Berliner Tageblatt, heatedly attacking Czechoslovakia, asked:

"Can, may or will Europe, which is struggling with all its strength to preserve peace, put up with the establishment of a second Spanish conflagration?"

"The world must now recognize Prague for what it is, an incendiary center in the heart of Europe!"

Britain Calls French Leaders; Cabinet Split

LONDON, Sept. 17—The British cabinet met in emergency session today, heard Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain report on his "peace conference" with Adolf Hitler and decided to invite Premier Edouard Deladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France to London immediately to discuss the Czech crisis.

The French statesmen, eager as those of Britain to reach some compromise to stay Hitler's hand from war over the Sudetens, are expected here tomorrow. They will return to Paris in time for a meeting of the French Cabinet on Monday afternoon.

With only a 90-minute recess for luncheon, the cabinet remained in continuous session throughout the day.

CHAMBERLAIN OPPOSED

Chamberlain found unexpected opposition from some younger members of his ministry, but in general their feeling was one of "cautious optimism."

Reporting on Hitler's demand for satisfactory settlement of the Sudeten crisis by October 1,

Chamberlain found some of his younger colleagues advocating a much stiffer attitude than he himself favors.

They expressed themselves unprepared to subscribe enthusiastically to the current official viewpoint that a bad compromise would be better than war.

This was the attitude of former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who quit his post in opposition to Chamberlain's alleged "cracking" to the dictators.

Despite the opposition, the cabinet as a whole recessed with a feeling of "cautious optimism."

It was understood the ministers had decided to invite Deladier and Bonnet at the earliest possible moment.

Following long statements by Chamberlain and Viscount Runciman, various members of the cabinet headed by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Simon and Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare made analytical comments.

CONFERES WITH KING
They generally supported the prime minister, characterizing his talk with Hitler as "helpful."

The cabinet resumed its session at 3 p. m. after luncheon. Viscount Runciman, British mediator in the Czech dispute, rushed to Buckingham Palace for a luncheon interview with the monarch. If a cabinet split impends, his advice and counsel would be sought immediately, but in addition to this factor many observers professed to see the sovereign playing an active role in the crucial efforts to avert war.

It was recalled that he returned to London hastily from Balmoral, Scotland, when Chamberlain undertook his dramatic flight to Berchtesgaden.

BERLIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—DNB (German official news agency) reported today from Eger, Czechoslovakia, that rifle volleys were heard at dusk Friday evening in the Eger infantry barracks yard, and quoted Slovak soldiers as saying four Sudeten Germans were shot as deserters.

DNB also reported from Eger that a German diplomatic car was stopped near Lublenz by Czech gendarmes who tore down the swastika emblems and bullied the occupants.

BERLIN, Sept. 17 (INS)—"Fugitives" from Czechoslovakia today asserted that Czech troops dynamited the Sudeten party headquarters in Eger, strife center of the Sudeten area, according to the official German news bureau, DNB.

BERLIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—Many Jewish physicians, whose licenses had been ordered revoked, have been notified exactly to which military unit they must report in case of war, it was learned today. The report was taken to indicate the urgency with which Nazis regard the present crisis arising from German and Czechoslovak differences over minority rights.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (INS)—The stock market cracked from $1 to an extreme of $5 a share today under a wave of selling due to pessimism over the European outlook. Stocks opened quiet and mixed but soon a rush to sell swept the list, sending the ticker behind. Support appeared but rallying power was lacking.

29 Boy Scouts Coolly Quit Flaming Bus

Their cool heads and quick wit saved 29 Quincy Boy Scouts today when a bus in which they were on their way to Brockton Fair was wrapped in flames.

All of the boys escaped unscathed, although women passersby caused confusion and alarm by their screams.

The blaze occurred on a hill in Linden street, Wollaston.

BYSTANDERS IN CONFUSION

The bus had loaded the carefree Scouts and was about to start when the driver, Daniel O'Brien of Rockland, noticed that the tank had overflowed and gasoline was spread in the street.

As he shouted for all to be careful of matches, the gasoline in the street flashed into flames and in a moment the rear of the bus was enveloped.

Bystanders screamed in panic, but the Scouts hurried orderly from the bus, with several of the boys raising window as an avenue of escape.

Drivers of five other buses, also leading Scouts of the district, brought fire extinguishers into play and, aided by the Quincy fire department, smothered the flames. Damage was estimated at $300.

The flames burst the bus windows and burned out the rear seats.

Another bus was recruited and the Scouts hurried off to the fair.

Roosevelt Sets Path in Crisis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt's series of conferences on the troubled international situation, informed officials said today, have clarified the administration's ideas as to the possible effect of a European war on the United States.

Although officials insisted no conclusions had been reached, the President and his advisers were reported in agreement as to what might be the effect on the neutrality law, trade agreements and international finance.

These aspects were discussed at a two-hour cabinet session.

Earlier President Roosevelt had conferred with Secretaries Hull, Morgenthau and, separately, with Norman H. Davis, Red Cross chairman, who formerly was American ambassador-at-large in Europe.

Stephen F. Early, presidential secretary, who disclosed the subjects of the cabinet discussion, emphasized that there was no "war scare." He said the discussions did not go beyond these matters.

Though not minimizing the gravity of the European situation, officials seemed in accord that the best role of the United States at present was to keep quiet.

How gravely the situation was regarded, however, was indicated by the President's decision to cancel his scheduled Constitution Day address today at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., so as to remain in the Capital.

He arranged instead to speak by radio.

The administration's foreign policy was criticized by Rep. Fish (R., N. Y.) who said in a broadcast address that it had erroneously encouraged Great Britain and France to believe the United States would join them in event of a European war.

He referred to the President's Chicago address last October advocating a quarantine of aggressor nations and said the administration's foreign policy had been one of "bluff and bluster."

"It has alarmed the American people and caused a war psychosis to spread throughout the nation," he said.

Czechs Ask U. S. Aid in Crisis

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1938.)

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—Facing desertion by France and Great Britain, Czechoslovakia today turned to the United States, the land in which the European republic was conceived, for aid in her hour of need.

The Czechs, through one of their consular representatives outside the Berlin region, informally sounded out a member of the American government service in Germany as to whether the United States was prepared, in case of emergency, to take over Czech affairs in the Reich.

The inquiry, it was learned, was sent that soon matters could be addressed only to Washington.

ZECHS PROTEST ARRESTS

It was not known here whether the question was thereupon referred to the American capital.

Meanwhile, Chancellor Hitler, described as "dead sure of himself," waited at Berchtesgaden in an atmosphere of confidence for the return of Prime Minister Chamberlain from England.

The Czech-German situation grew still more serious today, when the Czech charge d'affaires protested to the foreign office against numerous "groundless" arrests of Czechoslovakian citizens in Germany. The number was estimated at 26, including 16 in Berlin.

U. S. Will Hear Duce at 5:30 A. M.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (INS)—Premier Mussolini, speaking in Trieste, Italy, tomorrow morning, will be heard in America by short-wave rebroadcast, National Broadcasting Company, announced today.

It was believed he will discuss the Central European crisis. The speech will be heard at 5:30 a. m., daylight time. An English translation will be broadcast at the conclusion of Mussolini's talk.

FRANCE

PARIS, Sept. 17 (INS)—The patience of France neared the breaking point today as the British cabinet ponderously debated the Czechoslovak crisis and reports from central Europe told of a growing German determination to see the problem solved only as Reichsfuehrer Hitler wants it, with compromise.

The growing popular feeling that if France is going to have to fight she might better do it now and get it over with was reflected in the Echo De Paris by Pertinax, the well-informed commentator.

In his conversation with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain at Berchtesgaden, Pertinax said, Hitler gave Britain and the rest of Europe until Oct. 1 to settle the problem or he would undertake to do so by force.

WAR CRISIS is subject of discussion between President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, as President arrives in Washington for meeting of cabinet. He had been visiting son James at Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Sudetens Tense, Wait Hitler Aid, Give Up Guns

PRAGUE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Ernst Kundt, Sudeten deputy, appealed today to the German minority to be patient, as Czechoslovak authorities prepared for possible disorders when Sudeten German communities realize their chief political party has been outlawed.

Police, gendarmes and troops received special instructions for preserving order in Sudetenland.

Kundt, as floor leader of the dissolved Sudeten German party, issued a proclamation exhorting Sudeten Germans to "wait" until Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain "have ended their fateful conversations."

HENLEIN'S SUCCESSOR

Sudeten German circles said Kundt had become virtual leader of the minority after Konrad Henlein, Wilhelm Sebekowsky and other leaders fled to Germany. As a deputy, he has parliamentary immunity.

"Under political pressure of short-sighted elements which even now have not comprehended with what far-reaching decisions Europe is faced in this seriously critical situation," his proclamation read, "the government has deemed it expedient to liquidate the activity of the people's political organization of Sudeten Germans."

"Reserving steps in tune with conditions, I tell you in my capacity of leader of your parliamentary group:

"Do not let yourselves be confused by this party liquidation. Remain inwardly what you always were and wait until Adolf Hitler and Chamberlain have ended their fateful conversations."

'KEEP IRON NERVES'

"Whether or not parties and organizations continue to exist is no longer decisive today. What is decisive for us is solely the future of Sudeten Germanland and our homeland. Until this fate has been decided, remain strong, keep iron nerves. "God be with us."

News of Cabinet orders dissolving the Nazi-supported Sudeten German party immediately, dissolving the uniformed Sudeten storm troop organization and prohibiting the wearing of uniforms for political purposes was broadcast, but the full impact of the vigorous action was not expected until later today.

Other developments added to the tension of the situation.

CZECHS WON'T AGREE

Rudolf Běchyně, Czechoslovak minister of railways, gave official notice Czechoslovakia would not permit dismemberment of her territory and would not agree to any plebiscite.

He declared a plebiscite would be a "short-cut to war, because if there were a plebiscite, no government would exist in Prague."

Members of the Brunn town council refused to meet with six Sudeten members, who were barred from the session even though they protested they did not sympathize with Konrad Henlein, Sudeten leader, who fled to Germany.

Czech authorities particularly watched for possible outbreaks at Reichenberg, where a general strike has been called, and at Komotau, Warnsdorf, Aussig, Eger and Asch.

TURN OVER ARMS

Citizens of Bohemia province turned over thousands of "pistol, rifles, shotguns and other weapons to gendarmic stations in compliance with the regional government's orders.

Czech troops armed with rifles and bayonets continued to patrol streets.

Police seized all documents in the Sudeten German party regional headquarters at Eger. Authorities said leading Sudeten Germans had fled Czechoslovakia.

British Cabinet Split on Hitler

yesterday, he was immediately handed a three-page letter from his king. While its contents were not made known, it was obvious the missive was concerned with the European crisis.

For weeks it has been rumored King George planned some open contribution to solution of the problem, such as a personal message to Hitler.

But while such a drastic measure is now regarded as unlikely, King George would have plenty of precedent for moving, with all the might and prestige of his sovereignty, in behalf of peace.

His father, King George V, appealed to former Kaiser Wilhelm and Czar Nicholas for restraint in 1914, and while these efforts were foredoomed to failure, the late monarch is generally credited with playing a major part in bringing about the Anglo-French treaty of 1922.

Everett School Teachers Paid

Everett school teachers received their postponed pay-checks today after a secret school board conference over the controversial salary raise awarded to one of the teaching staff.

City Auditor Arthur McKinnon has held up the pay of 361 teachers because a $100 raise granted to Miss Lilian M. Hoyle did not appear in the municipal budget.

Superintendent of Schools Frederick A. Ashley made arrangements for the distribution of the $31,000 payroll after the board announced it had agreed to insert Miss Hoyle's raise in the school expenditures.

Bay Clams Key To N. E. Shortage

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Government fisheries experts said today an unusually heavy set of young soft-shell clams in Narragansett Bay might go far toward restocking the diminishing supply in New England waters.

Dr. Paul S. Galtsoff of the fisheries bureau said millions of small clams about a half-inch long covered practically every shell and pebble in certain sections of the bay. He recommended transplanting the clams in other sections of the bay to give them proper growing space.

Brother, Sister Win 'Jitter' Prelim

When the Boston Evening American's jitterbug contest is held in Boston Garden on the night of Oct. 24, there'll be at least one brother-and-sister team.

Frank Vassett, 20, and his sister, Mae, 19, both of Central Falls, R. I., won in the elimination contest at the Roseland Ballroom on Massachusetts avenue last night.

Proficient in all forms of swing or shag dancing, they specialized in "Cutting the Wheel" and "The Suzie Q."

They'll be among the 20 couples competing in the Garden the BIG night.

In case you are old-fashioned, and find the modern slang a bit wearing, a jitterbug is a young person who dances to swing.

And the big jamboree in the Garden October 24 will feature a battle of bands, to determine how the public is leaning as to swing music and smooth music.

DECIDE WINNER

Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees will represent smooth music and the old school. Benny Goodman and his gang will do their bit for swing.

If you have any feeling in the matter, be there that night, and show by your appearance on the floor which school of music you favor.

Admission is only $1, and it entitles you to six or seven hours of dancing to the music of Goodman and Vallee, and Harry Marshard's orchestra.

The jitterbug contest itself will feature 19 or 20 swing dancers, surviving that many elimination contests, to be held in various parts of the state.

Cab Calloway's Band will furnish the music for the preliminary at Rhode Island Auditorium in Providence tonight.

Tuesday night, Danny Dugan and his band will play for the contest in the Black and Gold Ballroom in the Hotel Bancroft, Worcester.

Low Bonick and his band will officiate for the preliminary at Club Mayfair on Wednesday night.

Friday night, the contest will sweep back to the Roseland in Massachusetts avenue, when Roy Eldridge famous trumpeter, will make a personal appearance.

RUBIN IN CHARGE

A week from tonight, "Swingin' Sammy Kaye" and his band go to the Rhode Island Auditorium.

Joe Rubin, impresario, with offices in the Metropolitan Building, is handling the preliminaries. Nat Shilman is president of the Jitterbug Club of Massachusetts, of which Miss Ann Marsters feature writer of the American and Advertiser staff, is honorary president.

Kane Pushes 'Purge'

William E. Kane, Woburn's militant mayor, today began with a vengeance his drive to halt drinking among relief recipients and close up taverns which serve them.

"I've got the evidence against certain places now," the mayor said, after another whirlwind tour of drinking places. "I've called in the licensing board to take immediate action. I guess those fellows didn't believe I meant business when I warned them a couple of weeks ago."

"Well, I did and there'll be some pretty sorry saloon keepers as a result. If it's the last thing I do as mayor, I'm going to make good my promise to the taxpayers to see that their money isn't drunk up by relief workers." Mayor Kane took copious notes and called in witnesses in his latest survey of drinking places. In several, he found the same recipients he had warned two weeks ago.

To further back up his cause, seven relief recipients and WPA workers were in the Woburn lock-up after being picked up on drunkenness charges.

In still another phase of Mayor Kane's drive, a WPA foreman and a laborer were out of jobs today, after being summarily fired on his orders when they were found drinking on the job at a project on the grounds of the Lincoln school.

The mayor, timing his tour to coincide with the weekly pay off of relief money, found a number of recipients preparing for a night of imbibing.

Novena Thousands Pray for Peace Here

Service Opens At Cathedral

By HENRY L. DAILY

Kneeling in solemn prayer for the preservation of World Peace and acceptance of the teachings of Christ, more than 5000 persons crowded the Cathedral of the Holy Cross at the first service of the Perpetual Novena of Our Sorrowful Mother.

It was the most impressive service witnessed in this city in years. Not only those of Catholic faith were in attendance, but persons from all walks of life and religious beliefs chanted a prayer in the hope that it would bring the entire world back to the philosophies of Christ.

THOSE IN CHARGE

The services were conducted by the Rev. James R. Keane, O. S. M., of Chicago, national director of the Novena, and his aide, Rev. Hugh Calkins, O. S. M. His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell had previously granted his approval for the Novena.

The conditions confronting the world today may be the beginning of the end. It may be that the end of the world is not far away," declared Father Keane.

"I say this not to alarm you. You know it's the truth. Hitler and other dictators of Europe make headlines. They are all fighting God. Headlines, yes, as they crush Christianity.

"A winding sheet of Christian understanding is in the weaving. For some reason men refuse to face the facts. I could tell them the answer. I know the remedy, but they would refuse to accept it. The answer is return to the principles laid down by Christ.

"Men seem to be afraid to talk religion. You must return to the Christian Christ. When with Christ the world was a happy place, away from storm and strife.

"The entire country, joining in universal prayer, will bring back universal peace. I am but a recruit. I urge you to join the army of our Blessed Mother."

The sermon was brief, but in its brevity Father Keane carried a solemn message into the hearts of his listeners, that through prayer a solution of worldly problems as well as those of the individual, may be arrived at or brought to an understanding adjustment.

The services were unique in character, inasmuch as the congregation joined in repeating the prayers and in visiting the seven stations en masse. Hymns were sung by those in attendance.

Thousands of petitions were filed in the boxes at the entrance of the church—petitions seeking relief from the burdens of life and also asking for spiritual guidance.

The devotion itself is not new. It dates back to the 13th century, when Mary appeared to seven noblemen of Florence and bade them establish an order to preach devotion to her sufferings. Out of this was born the Order of the Servants of Mary of which Fathers Keane and Calkins are members.

The Novena is based on the Seven Stations of the Sorrows of Mary, a series of paintings known as the Via Matris, the originals of which, executed by Janssens, still hang in the Cathedral of Antwerp, Belgium.

STARTED IN CHICAGO

In January of 1937 Father Keane started the devotion in his own church, Our Lady of Sorrows, Chicago.

The novenas grew until today there are 38 services in one church alone each Friday night. Seventy other churches in the same city are filed to capacity on the same day.

In Father Keane's church there have been presented some 60,000 petitions. The majority of them are from unemployed persons who have made the novena in hopes of having their prayers answered. Second in importance is a cure for alcoholism.

Financial assistance is sought by thousands.

Father Keane, in sorting out the petitions ran across six from young ladies who wanted boy friends and one youth who sought a young lady friend. Some 600,000 petitions have been signed and received during the past 18 months.

The lame, blind and discouraged, old and young, have sought this national crusade of prayer as a means to happiness.

The novena will be conducted every Friday night at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. It will be under the direction of Rev. Father Harry M. O'Connor, administrator of the parish.

The benediction service was celebrated by the Rev. Father Leroy Cooney.

Father Keane was highly elated at the outpouring at the inauguration of the novena and predicted that next Friday and the following weeks would see even larger crowds throughout the entire archdiocese.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (INS)—National heads of 23 religious communities of the United States joined today in issuing a call to the churches of the nation to unite in prayer for peace, next Sunday, because of the world crisis.

Dr. Edgar Dewitt Jones, of Detroit, president of the federal council of churches of Christ in America, issued the call from the council offices here. The appeal asks for prayer for "divine guidance to the leaders of the nations."

SPIRITUAL petitions were signed by nearly 5000 faithful at Holy Cross Cathedral when unique perpetual novena in honor of Our Sorrowful Mother opened. Above is group of young women signing. More than 250,000 have attended similar novena in Chicago. It is the first time the service has been given in Boston.

New Series Will Reveal Holy Land War Background

Buried beneath a welter of European war news, a brief dispatch from Jerusalem today revealed that 130 Arabs had been killed and wounded in a battle with British troops and Royal Air force planes near Ramallah.

What is the background of this bloody warfare in the Holy Land? What part is it playing in the destinies of millions of Jews throughout the civilized world who look to Palestine as their only sanctuary from intolerance and persecution?

These and scores of other questions of historic import to a sorely-troubled world are answered by H. R. Knickerbocker, the noted roving correspondent of International News Service, in a series of twelve searching, dramatic articles.

Knickerbocker, Pulitzer prize winner and the best informed foreign correspondent in the field today, recently completed a lengthy tour of the Holy Land, studying at first hand the battle of Palestine Jewry against its latest and greatest menace—Arab outlaws.

The first article in this gripping series will be printed in the Boston Evening American on Monday, September 19.

Find Father Of 5 Dead in Lot

Richard Coyman, 43, father of five children, was found dead under mysterious circumstances today in a parking lot at the rear of his home on L street, South Boston.

His body was bruised and blood streamed from cuts on his head, police said.

When he met his death, his wife and children were sleeping in their home only a few feet away. Officers said he was apparently the victim either of an attack or a fall from the rear of his home.

Well known in South Boston, Coyman was employed as a printer.

Jap Army Wins Double Victory

SHANGHAI, Sept. 17 (AP)—Two Japanese columns made important advances toward Hankow today, one driving overland toward the Peiping-Hankow Railway north of the provisional capital, the other capturing the Wusueh-Matowchen boom in the Yangtze River.

Capture of the boom was effected when the Japanese blasted their way into Wusueh in a combined land, air and river attack.

Wusueh is about 100 miles downstream from Hankow. The way is now open for an attack on Tienkiachen and Kichun, where there is reported to be another river obstruction.

DIES SUDDENLY

John Mathews, 45, janitor at the Charlow Logue School in Dorchester, was dead at his home, Boston street, South Boston, today, after being stricken while riding home from work in a taxi-cab.

Russell Swats Three Rivals

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

The national administration is "unalterably opposed" to the present governor of Massachusetts and wants a new member of the Democratic party nominated as standard bearer, former Congressman Richard M. Russell charged today.

Russell, for six years mayor of Cambridge and one term as a congressman in the ninth district, took the same occasion to assail former Governor James M. Curley and Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly, his other opponents for the Democratic nomination for governor.

"It is a fact that there is general dissatisfaction against the present administration and the national administration is unalterably opposed to the present governor," Russell said.

"Hurley," he added, "would never have been elected in 1930 except for the Democratic landslide. Pretty much of the same applies to the lieutenant-governor."

"As far as the former governor is concerned, he didn't even have the sympathy vote. He lost by 135,000 while the President was winning by 174,000."

Asked if his label as the New Deal candidate might not hurt his chances in view of the recent failure of President Roosevelt to purge opposition U. S. Senators in other states, Russell replied:

"The President's purge does not affect a state contest. Failure of the purge was simply a local condition in which the people of those states were sold ideas that they didn't have to take orders."

"They will see the error of their ways in due time."

Governor Hurley aimed most of his campaign barrage at former Governor Curley in charges that Curley was really to blame for the discharge of the thousands of state employees at the start of the Curley administration, a condition that has been blamed on the present governor by Curley.

Curley centered his topics around the case of Frederick H. Graves now awaiting trial on contempt charges that were filed by Curley as an aftermath of Graves' testimony in Suffolk court that Curley accepted $30,000 in graft while mayor of Boston.

"I hope that Frederick Graves will be tried before a jury and the public will then know that the Jim Curley in whom they have placed confidence for more than a third of a century is still the same, upstanding Jim Curley," he said.

Curley and Hurley both came in for broadsides from the young lieutenant governor who is seeking promotion to the governor's chair.

Governor Hurley and his assistant candidate, Ex-Governor Curley, exploited depositors of more than a score of closed banks by their condemnation of the so-called liquidation racket, Kelly charged in a radio rally at Fall River.

"Liquidating agents," he continued, "were openly presumed by the bank commissioner but actually by direct orders of the governor's office at fabulous fees from money in the process of salvage."

Frederick Butler of Andover, Republican candidate for governor, scored his opponents for discussing issues in spite of the fact that it is a function of the convention after the primary to frame issues and the party platform.

In a speech at Springfield, Butler said, the immediate concern of the Republican party is the selection of a nominee who can win over the Democratic nominee in November. He described himself as the logical choice as nominee because of his proved power to obtain votes at election time from members of both parties as well as the independent vote.

Shift of Hines' Trial Dewey Aim

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (INS)—Transfer of the entire Hines trial from the jurisdiction of Supreme Court Justice Pecora to that of general sessions court has been asked of Pecora himself by District Attorney Dewey, it was learned today.

After studying Dewey's request for 24 hours, the jurist who threw the Hines case out of court has not filed his reply.

The request is a blanket one that Pecora not only yield jurisdiction over Tammany Leader James J. Hines himself, but that he also consent to have general sessions take over the sentencing of Dixie Davis and George Weinberg, state witnesses in the trial.

Stork Arrives With Death

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 17 (AP)—A healthy day-old boy, born an hour before his mother died of a skull fracture, gurgled in his hospital crib today.

Deputy Coroner Arthur G. Selzer said Mrs. Mary Ruth Caine, 28, wife of a railroad worker, apparently fainted while burning papers in the furnace yesterday and her head struck the basement floor.

Physicians, fearing she would not survive, performed a Cesarean operation and the normal six-pound, seven ounce infant was delivered.

Families Too Small, Educator Declares

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The trouble with the modern family unit, Professor Joseph K. Folsom of Vassar College said today, is that it is too small—"It has too few children and also too few adults."

In an address prepared for the National Conference on Family Relations, the sociology professor said:

"Human beings were never made from an economic or practical point of view to live in isolated groups of two, three and four as they attempt to do in the modern city apartment or suburban bungalow."

"It is said we should seek quality rather than quantity. If people would take more thought as to what constitutes adequate quantity—an adequate sized family—they might find that the quality of family life would improve."

He said his advice to young people was:

"If you are fit to have children and want to have children, then make that your primary aim."

"Have enough children to make it worthwhile. The fashionable idea of one or two children is a sorry compromise. Don't put all your money into things. Be on the alert for opportunities to live, co-operatively."

Marriage should make men and women mentally and spiritually wealthier, but falls short in many cases because living is on a mechanical basis or a plane of triviality. Dr. Paul Sayre, of the University of Iowa, president, said.

O'Connor Flays Deal's Purge

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—A final week-end of campaigning opens today in the New Deal effort to defeat conservative Democrats whose activities in Congress have drawn President Roosevelt's condemnation.

Standing for renomination in Tuesday's primaries in this, the President's home state, is Rep. John O'Connor, chairman of the House rules committee, whose name is the only one remaining on the list for whose defeat Mr. Roosevelt has spoken.

O'Connor, a Tammany veteran, is running also in the Republican primary, against James H. Fay, a deputy collector of internal revenue. Fay, a regular Democrat, will get the American labor party nomination without opposition. O'Connor faces him in the Democratic primary and, in the Republican ball, opposes Allen W. Dulles.

O'Connor has made "the purge" his principal issue, accusing the President of offering "a challenge to America and its present form of government" by his intervention. He has charged Fay with benefiting from Communist support.

Fay's response has been that O'Connor has gone "out of his way to besmirch the President," after having "ridden into office more than once on the President's prestige."

I like to read the "comics" in the various papers—perhaps I will be considered childish, but then I think most of us have a sneaking liking for them, don't we?

One cartoon especially seems to fit into this page, especially about handwriting changing—also our emotions and feelings.

The Mrs. says to her husband: "Recognize that handwriting?" "Yes, it looks like mine, what is it?"

"It is yours, a letter you sent me before we were married."

"What did you keep it for?" "Oh—women keep such things. I'll bet you haven't any of MY letters."

"None."

"Well, would you care to read your GLOWING words?"

"What are you trying to do?"

"Make a fool of me?"

"Poor hubby, he still has the same love and sentiments for the Mrs. but the ardent swain has cooled off—he has changed just as we all change."

Scipio

SEGES RICHARDSON FT.

"Our love grows deeper naturally, perhaps like the river that flows tranquilly, but deeply with a swift undercurrent."

"There are many miscellaneous signs that are really difficult to write about that are often seen and noted by the graphologist."

Letters that bear resemblance to musical notes or symbols generally point to a musical individual, either one who is a composer, or skilled in interpretation.

When the "d" has a backward curl at the top, it bespeaks a cultivated nature. Imagination is well controlled and directed, and generally good literary tastes or some ability in the literary field is possessed by the writer.

When the small "n" is made like an "u," we have a friendly suave nature that is usually a good mixer, easy-going and good natured.

Occasionally the small "s" is written after the old style, with long loops above and below the lines.

This shows an extremely gentle and tender nature, and often an inability upon the part of those who write them to "stick up for themselves."

This is particularly true if there is much tenderness and sympathy in the script.

Yes, writing does change, even in the space of a few months. Isn't it true that the bank will ask you to drop in when convenient, and leave or re-establish your signature for identification because checks bearing your signature are there showing the writing has changed considerably and the banks want to be sure it is YOUR signature.

We all change, for better or worse, but thank goodness most of us change for the better.

If you are interested in what your handwriting reveals and want to learn your vocational possibilities, why not send in the COUPON on this page, placed there for your convenience and learn about YOURSELF?

You will find it interesting and perhaps helpful.

N. Y. Fights Food Trucker Strike

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Ailing Mayor Newbold Morris said today emergency action would be taken to insure the "uninterrupted shipment" of foodstuffs into the city as a three-day-old "outlaw" strike of insurgent truckmen halted hundreds of New Jersey trucks bringing food supplies through the Holland Tunnel.

"The police are losing no time in making a survey to determine to what extent the public may be affected by the strike," Morris said.

Strike leaders insisted that all perishable foods were permitted to pass picket lines.

Earlier, Abe Klein, chairman of a rank and file committee, said only food destined for hospitals, orphan asylums and persons on relief would be allowed to enter the city.

At least 166 large trucks loaded with supplies were parked near the tunnel at 9 a. m. Hundreds of others returned to New Jersey.

Klein said 9000 men were out. The union demands a five-day, 40-hour week with a basic pay of $56.50 a week. Klein predicted 15,000 would strike.

Business Index Shows Gains

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

Latest figures available reveal that American industrial activity is continuing its climb into new high ground for the year or longer.

We follow the Associated Press index which is composed wholly of physical volume indicators such as carloading, automobile production and cotton manufacturing activity. The figures released today show the index rose to 78.2 from the 77.9 previously recorded.

This new high was registered despite a sinking of auto production to a new low for the year due to strikes in the plants of one makers parts suppliers.

If it had not been for this unfortunate interruption the registering of a fresh peak by a more substantial margin was practically guaranteed.

Steel mill activity rose again and the residential building component literally soared higher. The latter by moving up to 76.4 from 70.2 reached the best figure since May 1931.

American industrial activity very obviously has the "spring" to reach much higher levels granted a respite from foreign trouble.

Some traders and observers are calling the reaction lows of this week the windup of the technical market correction. We would like to join in such cheerful forecasts, particularly since the business picture is no bright. But the hard headed facts are the market must, by all the dependable rules, first test the lows.

It has not done so as yet and even if a further recovery takes place some sort of a return to them seems logical.

A fact of disturbing nature, lost in the general tenaciousness over the Czech-German crisis, is the establishment this week of new lows by both British industrial and rail averages. After a summer recovery which at times was promising the renewal of the bear market slide is disconcerting.

It means the bear market there is still in force and all that the upturn represented was a technical correction in a long term downward trend. It is hard to believe American markets can escape its repercussions.

Maine Man Again Held in Killing

ELLSWORTH, Me., Sept. 17 —Howard C. Merry, 28, Franklin, Me., mechanic, was arrested again today on a second indictment returned by a Hancock County grand jury, which charged him with the murder of Frank Crowhurst, elderly gasoline station owner.

Merry was charged with the crime August 24, a month after the murder, but was released when the state failed to show probable guilt in a court hearing.

Everett Gang Takes $1300 Machines

Thirteen power sewing machines, valued at $1300, were reported missing to police today in a break at the W. N. Willis Awning Co., Revere Beach parkway, Everett. Entrance was gained by smashing the glass in a rear door, through which the machines were carted to a waiting truck.

Everett police blamed the theft on an organized gang of thieves, who in recent breaks have cleaned out sewing machines from garment shops in Woburn and Malden.

New Railroad Policy Demand Wins Approval

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service
Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (INS)—The suggestion by the chief executive of a leading mid-western life insurance company that the thrift institutions finance a new study of American transportation needs and trends has won approval within the ranks of railroad management.

Replying to my inquiry as to his views on railroad requirements, L. W. Baldwin, president of the Milwaukee Pacific Lines, pointed out: "If we are to continue to have a privately owned and privately operated railway business in this country we must have a new national transportation policy. A public demand for that is needed. But the public must understand it better."

Quoted concerning the short traffic outlook, the executive said: "The outlook for traffic increases this fall and winter in the Middle West, South and Southwest is encouraging, due to the wheat harvest and improved prospects at this time for good corn, feed and cotton crops."

"Even though market prices are disappointing, good crops put money in circulation and, when money circulates, traffic is stimulated. I do not, however, see any indications for a heavier volume to move, compared with last year."

As to the significance of rate changes, Baldwin pointed out:

"The passenger fare increase recently granted applied only to Eastern lines which contended that higher fares were necessary for profitable operation of passenger trains. We made no increase in our territory."

Revealing the popular reaction to improvement of equipment, he said:

"All railroads have enjoyed a pleasing public response to the many improvements in passenger train equipment, service and faster schedules inaugurated during the last few years."

"I doubt if it can be expected that these improvements will continue when many of the lines are making operating expenses, taxes and rentals."

"Improvements cost money and money for improvements will not be available unless those who furnish it have some reasonable assurance of a return."

"New expenses—that is, higher wages, higher taxes and higher prices for fuel, material and supplies—continue and the recent rate raise under ex parte 123 was not sufficient to improve materially the net."

"We need twice the volume of business we are handling."

BOSTON, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1938

HOURLY PLAY-BY-PLAY IN THE STOCK MARKET

The stock market caved in again today under a wave of selling generated on fresh fears of a European conflict. After a slow, lower start volume increased quite sharply and prices lost up to more than 3 points.

19-11. Stock prices eased as the opening on small offerings. The European picture contained the center of attention with financial circles waiting to see if the Czechs would fight even though England agrees to annexation of Sudeten by Germany. Most declines were limited to fractions. Some of the high-priced issues showed wider losses. Allied slumped 3, Phillips Morris 3, and duPont 1 1/2. Easier tendencies continued in very dull trading. The motors tried to get ahead but progress was restricted to fractions. Grains continued to benefit from war tension. Values were swept up as much as 2 cents a bushel in brisk Chicago trade. Volume 180,000 shares.

11. The selling pace accelerated sharply and prices faded easily. Mid-week lows were closely approximated by leading issues. Losses ran to 3 or more points. Boardrooms had the same nervous, tense air that pervaded them previously and traders wanted cease sheets over the week-end. Pressure let up and prices steadied.

CANADIAN CARLOADINGS

Haney Surveys Benefits of 'Expert' Advice

By LEWIS HANEY

(Professor of Economics, New York University)

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—From

Mass Island, Calif., comes the following difficult question:

"Name the most responsible, reliable and successful financial advisory services. From personal experience, I have suffered more harm from the probably well-meaning advice of such services than any broker ever gave me."

Answer: Even if I could, I wouldn't give names. Maybe, however, I can throw some light. There are two general kinds of "service." One centers in bulletins mailed or wired out to all subscribers who pay a regular subscription price. The other takes charge of the "client's" funds, usually in large amounts and manages them for fees which vary with the responsibility assumed, or the results attained, or both.

Perhaps the best general answer is given by the published results of the "Investment trusts," since they are run by men of a type similar to those in the best financial services. The results shown have not been spectacular, to any the least. Most of them have done little, if any better than the "averages."

In other words, if you were to buy the "leading stocks" used in making up the averages and hold them indefinitely, you would do as well as the average investment trust has done in the management of portfolios. Then you have to deduct the trust's operating expenses from the dividends and price appreciation realized.

Probably a good many of these will survive and do reasonably well for stockholders, because they depend upon investment and the long pull. In the same way, advisory services will be helpful.

But, when it comes to speculation and quick "turns," I am very doubtful. One hears very little about the results of the concerns which handle or advise large speculative accounts. From the way they have to advertise, however, and the changes in their personnel, I guess that most of them win and lose, depending largely upon when the market goes up or down.

—“That Government of the People, By the People, For the People Shall Not Perish From the Earth.”

(The Immortal Words of Abraham Lincoln)

It is the 151st Anniversary Year of the United States Constitution, the CORNERSTONE, the KEYSTONE and the CAPSTONE of the Liberties of all Americans.

It is the occasion on which we look back upon a century and a half of PERSONAL LIBERTY such as no other people in the world has ever had.

Rightly and with cause the American people rejoice. But to merely rejoice is not enough.

To properly celebrate the Constitution's birthday every American should KNOW the Constitution. He should KNOW it as well as he knows the lease to the land he occupies, for the Constitution is the lease to his liberties and freedom.

The Constitution should be his POLITICAL BIBLE. Its English is as simple as the Bible and its vast vision of democracy, freedom and individualism condensed in the fewest words possible is a PRODUCT OF THE BIBLE.

Like the Bible the Constitution is a SPIRITUAL DOCUMENT. It has to do with SPIRITUAL values.

Every American should this year REALIZE that the guarantees in the Constitution are part of his life and breath.

They protect his freedom of movement and thought. They safeguard him against tyrannous practices of any kind—imprisonment without reason, excessive bail, cruel and unusual punishment and search and seizure without a warrant.

These indeed are SPIRITUAL values. Fifty years ago, on the occasion of the Constitution's centennial, Grover Cleveland, then President, said:

“When we look down one hundred years and see the origin of our Constitution, when we contemplate all its trials and triumphs, when we realize how completely the principles upon which it is based have met every national need, how devotedly should we say with Franklin: ‘God governs in the affairs of men.’”

Boston After Dark

BY GEORGE HOLLAND

THE EXACT REASON for withdrawal of the Olsen and Johnson musical show, "Hellzapoppin" from the Shubert after tonight's performance was not lack of business. . . . The show was booked for two weeks in Boston. . . . The advance sale for next week was promising, and Election Day eve probably would have seen a sell-out. . . . But theater business in New York is on the up-beat. . . . The first two shows of the new season were failures, and "Lightnin'" the third—and a revival—is not expected to set the town afire. . . . A fast-moving new revue will fill a gap in New York. . . . Producers of "Hellzapoppin" decided that a longer stay in Boston would be a waste of time. . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

It seems they have great confidence in Bob Alton, the dance director. . . . Alton is working on the forthcoming Vincent Freedley musical "Clear All Wires" (tentative title). . . . He will design dances for that extravaganza in the daytime and direct new numbers of "Hellzapoppin" of nights. . . . Added up, it sounds like an alibi for bad business. . . . But it isn't. . . .

Once Over Lightly:

Frederick Windsor, Jr., the Weston backgammon player, made one of his infrequent visits to a night club last night, and saw the show at the Coconut Grove. . . . Paul Whelton, who has volunteered as this column's "Sunkist Correspondent," has arrived in Los Angeles, as a member of the staff of the Examiner. . . . The Babe Ruth of southern California softball is Doty Doerr, 19-year-old sister of Tom Yawkey's Bobby Doerr, Correspondent Whelton relates. . . . She plays third base for the Los Angeles "Eastside." Against Loyola, Miss Doerr contributed five home runs in the series. . . .

And our old friend "Gentleman Jack" (that ain't no gentleman (it's a wrestler) Washburn has been suspended indefinitely by the California State Athletic Commissioner. . . . For (allegedly) "the good of the game." . . . Gus the Goat, on the other hand, is going great guns. . . . He has lost only one match in six months and that to Nagurski when he knocked himself out on a missed tackle. . . .

Milk is selling retail in Los Angeles for 27 cents a gallon. . . . You can get a Giant Tom Collins—four ounces of gin— for 20 cents. . . . Parking in Los Angeles and Hollywood is a dime a day, all day, and one can wheel a car in and out of a parking lot as many times as you wish in the day. . . . And cantaloupes are buyable at a cent each. . . .

But the Wheltons—who have children—haven't been able to rent a house. . . .

One of the most heated rivalries in Boston business was that between the taxi companies whose cars were distinguishable respectively by their white and yellow colors. . . . Your reporter hears that Al Hodson, of the white-color cabs, and Frank Sawyer, of the yellow-bus vehicles, are now answering phones in the same office. . . . A union of talents which was never expected to come to pass. . . .

Eddie Dowling will send "Shadow and Substance" to Boston for a four-weeks' engagement the second Monday in October. The New York hit will play Toronto before Boston. . . . Jim Maloney, who is conducting an Otis street tavern as his latest venture since retirement from the ring, was once a song and dance man. . . . Jim did a turn with two girls at Loew's State theater in the dim past, and was a featured performer also at the Old Howard. . . . Kay Lawrence, the girl scribe, is home again after a jaunt to Europe and a trip to Hollywood. . . .

Cornelia Otis Skinner will repeat "Romance," in which she attracted splendid patronage at the Ogunquit Playhouse. . . . She will play a week in Maplewood, N. J., beginning tomorrow night. . . . Estelle Taylor, Jack Dempsey's ex., was at the Mayfair last night after appearing at an Eagles gathering in Quincy. . . . Two attractive young men acquired her. . . . Whether they were Eagles' their correspondent did not learn.

Chatter:

Low Bonick will lead a band in Florida this winter, probably at the Dempsey-Vanderbilt. . . . Lee Shelley, another Boston band-leader, gets a New York chance when the Hollywood restaurant re-opens October 5. . . .

Nils T. Granlund's Swedish nightclub, "The Midnight Sun," will open Tuesday night atop the Winter Garden in New York while Cole Porter's show, "You Never Know," is debuting downstairs. . . . John S. Payne, general manager of the powerful American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) was a Boston visitor. . . .

The G-Man Recalls a Hard-Boiled Egg

By Robert Storm

Dual Patriotic Fete in Hub

Boston today celebrated Constitution Day with thousands of troops massed on the Common and patriotic exercises in historic Faneuil Hall scheduled for tonight.

The first observance marked the 141st anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution and National Guard Day, sponsored by the Greater Boston Council.

More than 10,000 National Guardsmen took over the Common, while thousands of the various armaments of the state machine gun and tanks were waiting their guns in the streets.

The 20th Division Artillery played a mock air raid over the Common while companies "replied" the attack with action of guns.

The armed display was one of the most impressive in the city's history with the infantry, motorized artillery, fast tanks and other war machines playing a spontaneous part.

At Faneuil Hall speakers pledged renewed allegiance to American principles following an invocation by the Rev. Joseph P. Barry, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Speakers were Representative Francis Newman, Boston, former Assistant Secretary of War, and Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr.

When the exercises were on Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, of New York spoke from Battery Park, and a patriotic radio broadcast sponsored by the Republican National Committee.

Constitution Essay Contest Closes

The Boston Evening American's Constitution Day essay contest closed at midnight last night.

Victor, the Constitution Means to Me, winner, was chosen. Three other essays were sent on.

As soon as the judges made through the entries, the contest was closed. The contest was held in the spirit of the prize to advance the greatest number of winners.

N. E. Rapped For Stand on Realty Tax

CRAWFORD, N. E. H. Sept. 17 (INS)—The House today authorized today by Majority Leader Worcester, Mass., to introduce a bill and a conference of the National Association of Realtors, which is a lobbyist to be passing the tax on real estate to finance the principal of the day.

For the past 15 years, a single house or real estate has been built in the center of the country, in which an average American could afford to live.

This condition is the present high taxes on real estate which do more to increase the construction of building than any other single cause.

The present system of taxation on real property violates a fundamental principle, charged Kelly. "They are taking away from owners their investment in their properties."

John C. Hays, secretary of the National Association of Realtors, said the conference is to be held in New York in the near future.

F. D. Shuns Crisis in Radio Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (INS)—The Federal Reserve Board today in a radio address spelled the "professional fear-mongers of 1933," who were a danger to the nation's progress.

The executive talk was broadcast from the White House, occasioned by the 15th anniversary of the Federal Reserve Act.

Mr. Roosevelt drew a parallel between those who opposed the Federal Reserve Act in 1913 and those who today are afraid to move forward.

"Believe me," Mr. Roosevelt asserted, "the slayers with alarm, the patrons of ghosts and bogoblins in those days had little to learn from the professional fear-mongers of 1933."

"Then, as now, there were men and women afraid of the future—distrustful of their own ability to meet changed conditions; short-sighted in their dog-in-the-manger conception of local and national needs."

1 Wife, 2 Mates So Police Probe

LOWELL, Sept. 17—A sidewalk battle between two men, alleged to be a woman, today prompted the police to probe the marital career of the girl over the past seven years.

She is Mrs. Dorothy Keegan of Prescott street, Lowell. Two men, George Keegan and Peter Bishop, both claimed to be married to the girl, police said.

Both men were allowed to go free after Deputy Superintendent of Police John J. Keegan was informed of the cause of their row. Mrs. Keegan was arraigned on the drunkenness charge in Lowell district court, and held in default of $500 bail for trial on Monday.

Deputy Keegan, no relation of the girl, said she had admitted having been married twice since February of this year.

He said she confessed a marriage with George Keegan at Salem, N. H., on February 13 and another with Peter Bishop on August 23 at Derby, N. H.

Previously, according to the police official, she had been married to John Ringier of New York, whom she said she divorced in Lowell on December 22, 1931.

In the Far North -- Gay Comedy for All

TENSE MOMENT Dorothy Lamour has a gallant protection in George Raft in this scene from "Spawn of the North," current screen feature at the Paramount and Fenway.

SCHOOL DAYS—Eddie Bracken and William Blee have featured roles in the George Abbott laugh-hit, "What a Life," continuing at the Wilbur.

Abbott Favors Clean Comedy

Apparently there is always something new popping in the theater for now George Abbott comes forth to vouch for the fact that a comedy can be clean as a whistle and still garner its full quota of laughs.

The comedy of course is "What a Life," which has kept Broadway laughing for a most successful run. It is a comedy of the "clean" type, and it is a comedy of the "new" type. It is a comedy of the "new" type, and it is a comedy of the "clean" type.

Mr. Abbott vows that there has never been a cleaner comedy on the boards at any time in the history of the American theater, or any other theater for that matter. There just isn't a word or situation in the whole three acts that could possibly offend anybody and Mr. Abbott is very happy over the situation.

Look at it from an economic angle, if you like," he says. "In recent years, when comedies have been somewhat risqué—and Mr. Abbott doesn't expect some of his own entire families have stayed out of the theater because they couldn't find plays suitable for the children as well as the grown-ups—"What a Life" solves that problem, for everybody who has ever set foot into a high school gets a kick out of its amusing situations."

Mr. Abbott confesses that he prides of the comedy largely because he found that the heartiest laughs in "Three Men on a Horse" and "Father Ed" derived from the lines and situations that bore no trace of anything but common sense. All of which, he says, is not indicative whatsoever of the moral trends of the current generation.

New Rice Play Soon

Preparations for the third production of the Playwrights' Company are under way with the signing of Arthur Byron for the leading role in "American Landscape," the new Elmer Rice play that will go into rehearsal's October 17. The five dramatists, Maxwell Anderson, S. N. Behrman, Robert E. Sherwood, Sidney Howard and Mr. Rice, already have two productions in preparation, "Knickerbocker Holiday" and "Abel Lincoln in Illinois." Rice scored one of his greatest successes in "American Landscape," like "Knickerbocker Holiday," is expected to have its out of town opening in Hartford. The Maxwell Anderson-Kurt Weill musical is scheduled to open in that city September 24, subsequently playing a two-week engagement in Boston.

'Hellzapoppin' Closes Tonight

Last call for "Hellzapoppin'" the Ole Olsen and Chic Johnson screamin' revue was given tonight at the Wilbur. The second to last performance of the evening. Appearing with Olsen and Johnson are Jack Egan, Mabel, the charming Olsen twins, and the Spang Sisters, Peg and Alice. The show is a comedy of the "new" type, and it is a comedy of the "clean" type.

TOPS BOWDOIN BILL

Bowdoin's screen bill today through Tuesday, offers "Damaged Goods," based on the famous stage play by Eugene O'Neill and "Racket Busters" with Humphrey Bogart, Walter Abel, James Lockton, Allen Jenkins and Penny Singleton.

Ethel Barrymore Keen Radio, Sports Fan

Ethel Barrymore, who spent the previous Thursday evening in "What a Life," is a radio and sports fan. Barrymore, who is a radio and sports fan, is a radio and sports fan. She is a radio and sports fan, and she is a radio and sports fan.

She has been in charge of 10-10 and immediately received her dressing room and time in the radio. Night baseball and hockey have provided her with many thrills in the last several months. She knows all the players by name and has met a large number of them personally.

Last season in Toronto, on a pre-New York tour of the play, she asked about the Canadian players, Lionel and Charley, and when she found they had retired and were both living there, she invited them to come over to the hotel for a chat. It is hard to say which of the three was the most impressed, Lionel, Charley, or Ethel, said Goss, and Ethel said, "Ah."

THE NEW YORK TIMES MAGAZINE

'THEY SHALL NOT PASS!'

The Editor Says: This is Constitution Day, the 151st anniversary of the adoption of the SET OF RULES and the accompanying DEFINITION OF RIGHTS which have been the basis of government in the United States since the founding of the Republic.

It is the patriotic custom of the American people to mark this anniversary with appropriate observances, mindful of the historic significance of the occasion and hopeful that understanding of its importance may not diminish with the passing of the years.

This is an excellent custom. Our regard and reverence for the Constitution are sacred things.

They set us apart as an understanding and an intelligent and a grateful people.

It was a magnificent inspiration that found force and effect in the Constitution of the United States and its national form and organization gave enduring life to the highest ideas and principles.

That we retain and glorify this inspiration and hold it conform to these ideas and principles after more than a century and a half attests our worthiness of a splendid heritage.

We are not living in the past, in remembering the circumstances of the attainment of FREEDOM.

The Constitution is not a thing of the dead past, but a living and vibrant declaration of perpetually high and good principles. It is as new and alive as TODAY.

Through the wind in which we LIVE TODAY, the futile struggles and unfulfilled aspirations of countries in which freedom has not survived has NEVER BEEN KNOWN afford vivid and abundant evidence of how completely our liberties have been linked to constitutional law.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho on a recent occasion spoke of the contrast between the liberties we enjoy under the Constitution and the suppression of liberties in other lands.

He said that the only constitution in Italy is "the fertile and restless brain of Mussolini."

That the only constitution in Germany is "the daring and resourceful character of Hitler."

That the only constitution in Russia is "the iron will of Stalin."

In fixed and amazing contrast with the distressed plight of despotic tyranny under these systems, said Senator Borah:

"The Constitution of the United States IS THE WILL AND PURPOSE OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, crystallized into a written document, binding upon rulers and people alike."

"It has served the cause of human freedom and the advancement and enlightenment of human happiness AS HAS NO OTHER DOCUMENT IN THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD."

We would be an indifferent, negligent and ungrateful people if we did not remember and revere and respect the Constitution. Happy and fortunately we are not that kind of a people.

It is our determination that LIBERTY SHALL ENDURE, and our pledge that the constitutional safeguard of liberty shall not fall into neglect and decay at the hands of an indifferent and negligent people.

ASTOUNDING figures on the rising cost of relief in Massachusetts cities are revealed through a Social Security Bureau survey.

Expenditures in 12 Bay State cities increased from $17 to 142 PER CENT between 1929 and 1937. The mounting relief costs present a SERIOUS PROBLEM for taxpayers to meet.

This problem is one which should be given IMMEDIATE attention. All relief expenditures should be studied closely and an effort made to find ways to REDUCE COSTS at once.

The Human Side of the News

Baseball Stamps Proposed for U. S.

By EDWIN C. HILL

THEY DON'T KNOW THEMSELVES, say the PHILATELICAL COLLECTORS, it is rather pleasant with the news that the Post Office Department is planning to print a special issue of baseball stamps. Philadelphia should be delighted.

With such champions as Joe DeMaggio, Jimmy Fox, Mel Ott and Johnny Van Hunter on the stamps, the collecting urge of youngsters should be fanned up to a cyclonic pitch.

Picking ballplayers for this sunny corner would seem to put the whole postage stamp business more on its merits. The populace would begin to yell "throw that bum out" as the batting average sagged, his stamp value would slump and we have a new issue with the picture of some youngster on the up-and-up.

IT WOULD be gratifying if we could have a political box-score, showing runs, hits, put-outs, assists, errors, earned runs, stolen bases and the like.

And pertinent to news of ballplayers on postage stamps I offer in contrast the national and amateur outcries of the sports world.

The posed pug scene, using it figuratively as a symbol of the sport, certainly would have, however, added greatly in all things. A double-headed, Russian, catcher can snuff an easy catch and the crowd will murmur, "Well then, Snuffington." One of our men can do everything but catch a ball to snag the ball and the sports will roar "Send that buster back to the catcher."

'Bugs' Baer Says:

ALASKA is an Indian word meaning Alas. We acquired this territory pretty much like we got everything else in the continent. After our lawyers made certain that Alaska was owned by the Indians we bought it off the Indians.

If only cost as much as a little money. Something around seven million. We got that back in news reels. The Governor is appointed by the President, which is sure something a close friend a long way off.

ALASKA is extremely mountainous in all directions and cannot swim in very popular. There are 600,000 miners running loose in the territory and it's the only place in the world where milk mads go to work on motorcycles.

OVER $18,000,000 worth of gold was produced in 1938, more or less. It is now buried under Fort Knox. If it isn't alive it is a splendid case of a sleeping giant.

A TEMPERATURE of 55 degrees below zero has been recorded on Mt. McKinley in the National Park. You must reserve a bench there for New Year's Eve.

AS BASEBALL STAMPS MAY LOOK
Artist's Conception of Postal Issue

But when it comes to politics and government, the story is reversed. The British watch their politicians and howl them down if they loot an easy one or cut a base. Misfeasance in public office in England is but a small percentage of what it is in this country.

I HAVE an idea that if you could quiz all the commuters on the club car in the morning, you would find them parked to the gunshales with detailed and specific knowledge of the standing of the clubs, batting averages, past performance and what not and you could kick up a dozen arguments about the virtues of the club and that of the comparative merits of players.

And I will also say a small but that individually and collectively the car would be backed by a simple question: Is it necessary government assumption of taxes county indebtedness of and that most of the sports and news?

would be unable to name the congressmen from their district.

ONCE, out in a sunny little. Already of the arts on the West Coast, I heard a complaint from a highly competent young artist.

"It is almost impossible for an artist to come through here," he said. "Everything we do gets a cheer. We are a lot of reciprocal backscratches. The papers beam their rate artists, along with those who really have something. The result is that we suffer from the lack of hard, exact and informed criticism. It is impossible for a fifth wheel art to emerge under such conditions. Alert and just criticism is just as necessary as the creative power itself."

Certainly, ballplayers in postage stamps would be one way to feed the mind and emotions of the demos to its government, in the spirit of the relentless and military criticism which my friend advised.

'The Lambeth Walk' Like Square Dance

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright, 1938, by Damon Runyon, Inc. International copyright and all rights reserved.)

WE ARE NOW able to report in some detail to our customers on "The Lambeth Walk," the latest triphiborean fad to be committed to the dance floors of New York.

"The Lambeth Walk" is supposed to have been imported from London by the broad-a-set and was launched at a high-toned Fifth Avenue hotel roof garden, whence it soon seeped down to less demitasse circles.

We went to see what Sherman Billingsley calls his saloon and by assuming the aspect of a wine buyer got eased into a desirable table from which the most indignant glances of the waiters failed to disguise us when they discovered our true character.

The dance floor at Mr. Billingsley's was thickly populated by dancers, male and female, all doing "The Lambeth Walk" to music of that same name provided by Mr. Ba's chain orchestra which put on a continuity of sound that eliminates the necessity of either thinking or talking, a very good thing at that.

WE HAD HEARD so much about "The Lambeth Walk" that we expected to find something new and novel in the way of tripping the light fantastic, but what was our surprise to immediately discover a slight variation of that an old American folk pastime, the square dance.

That is all. "The Lambeth Walk" is in its fundamentals, though a fellow was trying to tell us that it comes from the contermongers of London. It is just a little walk and an all-around and we expected any minute to hear Mr.

Billingsley get up and chant "Swing yore partners, Balance, all! Take a chew terbacker And spit agin the wall!"

THERE ARE ONLY about four steps to "The Lambeth Walk," all very simple, and as they finish these steps the dancers jerk their thumbs back over their shoulders and yell "OI!"

The only other variation of the square dance that we can see in "The Lambeth Walk" is the way you hold the kisser, or face. You hold it slightly upwards and adopt an expression bordering on the idiotic. This is not at all difficult. In fact, the expression becomes automatic the instant one decides to go in for "The Lambeth Walk."

The nose is elevated and somewhat contracted as if your olfactory senses detected some unwelcome odor.

WE DID NOT attempt "The Lambeth Walk" the other night. If it had been anything new we would have been out there on the floor picking 'em up and laying 'em down, but when we do any plain old square dancing we want the boys from the Buffalo swamp up there fiddlin' and old John Strickland calling:

"Honors to yore partners, And honors on the corners, Swing the left hand lady— And all promenade."

Socialites Crowd Floor for Lambeth Walk at North Shore Ball

By BETTY ALDEN

DON'T THINK that society people are the least bit slow about picking up the latest dance step. When Sammy asked the ladies to do the Lambeth Walk at the Babies' Benefit Ball at the Caspary in Mather last evening, it was expected that two or three couples would venture out onto the dance floor to try this latest dance craze. Instead, more than fifty couples came from the refreshment tables about enthusiastically, slap their knees and shout "Oh!"

Mrs. Joseph Woods, who has just won the prize for the best dressed woman in the North Shore, hustled out to join the dancers with her husband, who beamed with pride when he realized that his North Shore neighbors concurred with his own opinion of his wife. Her costume last evening, an emerald green gown with white lace cape was a perfect foil for her blondeness.

Others doing the Lambeth Walk were Nancy Leiter, whose partner was George C. Clement, portrait painter John Lavalie and his wife, Charlotte Ransaul with Philip Tucker; Mr. and Mrs. Harris Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cummings, Mrs. E. Sturgis Hillis, George Vaughan, Nancy Cassels and Lindsay Dexter. . . . Though they all came to learn the winners of the popularity contest they stayed for what turned out to be, without a doubt, the most peppy and enjoyable society party held in these parts in many a moon.

Mrs. Harold Chalfoux, chairman of the affair, which benefited the Boston Lymphatic Hospital, wore a beautiful gown of black crepe with a bodice and hem of pink sequins. . . . Everyone was surprised when white haired Mr. Chalfoux turned out to be the champion pitterbug of them all. . . . Judges in the pitterbug contest were undecided which couple was best and made them dance over and over again. . . . Each time he went into an intricate series of steps with all the pep and enthusiasm of our most youthful swing addicts. . . . Even Mrs. Chalfoux was surprised for she said she didn't know he had even learned to be an "alligator." . . . Dottie Preston was his partner.

Among the many guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. F. Murray Forbes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Swift, parents of Lucile, who was chosen the prettiest girl. . . . Lucile added a novel touch to her black velvet period gown with a tricky red velvet muff which matched the headpiece encircling her black hair.

Bridesmaids in Hoop Skirts

EMULATING GRANDMA . . . practising how to sit down gracefully, to say nothing of getting into an automobile in hoop skirts . . . has been the chief concern for the past few days of the bridesmaids in Mary Bullock's wedding to Alden Porter Johnson which takes place this afternoon in Worcester.

The newest fall trend for hoop skirts and dainty accessories influenced Mary in selecting her bridesmaids' costumes and her choice fell upon beautiful gowns of delphinium blue satin made with hoop-skirts, and worn with small blue net hats trimmed with satin bows. . . . They are carrying baskets of pink asters.

Mary's gown of ivory satin and old lace is enhanced by a bouquet of bouvardia and lilies of the valley. . . . Her father, Rockwood Bullock, is giving her in marriage in First Unitarian Church, Worcester, and there is to be a reception at the Bullock home on Cedar street.

The bride's mother is receiving in a gown of dark green with matching hat and slippers and Mrs. Charles Warren Johnson of Worcester, mother of the bridegroom, has chosen a costume of plum color crepe with a matching hat.

Vera Bullock is maid of honor for her cousin and the bridesmaid group includes Isabel Curtis Baker of Worcester, Janice Roberts of Chicago, Sallie Coe of Worcester and Mrs. Charles Swartwood of Ithaca, N. Y. . . . George S. McElroy of Columbus, Ohio, is best man.

The bride is a member of the Junior League and a graduate of Miss Porter's School. . . . Mr. Johnson is a Princeton graduate.

Foss-Brown Ceremony Today

MANY BOSTONIANS are taking advantage of Mary Winifred Brown's wedding to Eugene Foss, 24, today to give them an excuse for a week-end trip to the White Mountains. . . . The ceremony takes place in quaint little Sugar Hill, N. H., right in the heart of the most scenic part of the state, and is followed by a reception at Peckett's-on-Sugar-Hill, social rendezvous of fashionable people from here to there.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Clark Brown and the late Mr. Brown of Washington, D. C., and Sugar Hill, is wearing a gown of deep ivory satin trimmed with lace from her great grandmother's wedding costume. . . . Her veil cascades from a cap of real lace and orange blossoms. . . . Dorothy Blake of Englewood, New Jersey, serves as maid of honor and is wearing a frock of rose taffeta made on bouffant lines and enhanced with wine color accessories and an arm bouquet of wine red roses.

Jamaica Plain Girl Weds

Wearing her mother's wedding dress of Chinese silk and val lace, Gertrude McCarron of Jamaica Plain, daughter of Arthur J. McCarron, became the bride of Edward Joseph Matthews at an eight o'clock ceremony this morning in St. Thomas Aquinas Church.

Rose dahlia and blue delphinium banked the altar with the Rev. William J. Casey officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father topped her wedding gown with a tulle veil which fell from a cluster of tiny pale pink ostrich tips. A nosegay of pale pink sweetheart roses completed her costume.

Frances Cronin of Jamaica Plain, her only attendant, wore a period frock of soft blue moire. Her bridesmaids wore light blue veiling and ostrich tips and a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers completed her costume.

Arthur Matthews was best man. Mrs. Matthews, a recent graduate of the Faelen School of Music is a former member of Canton's teaching staff. She is also prominent in affairs of the Catholic Professional Women's Club. Mr. Matthews was graduated from Boston College High and Suffolk Law School.

After the reception at the Myles Standish the couple flew to New York where they embarked on a wedding trip to Bermuda. On their return they will make their home in Jamaica Plain.

Representing Boston stores at the fashion conclave will be Jack McCarthy, of Wm. Filene's Sons Co., and Henry P. Wright and Walter Krystof, of Jordan Marsh Company.

Charlotte Ann Baker Chestnut Hill Bride

A very picturesque wedding is being solemnized this afternoon in the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill, at which Charlotte Ann Baker becomes the bride of Stuart Eldredge Hills.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Roy H. Baker of Newton Center, and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. M. S. Hills of Waban and Edmund S. Hills of Providence.

In contrast to the bride's dignified ivory satin gown, with tulle and lace veil, the maid of honor, Hope Tower Baker, is wearing hyacinth blue moire with a crownless blue velvet hat and arm bouquet of yellow roses.

The four bridesmaids are wearing similar outfits of ivory moire with blue velvet hats and bouquets

Red Sox Determined To Hold Second Place

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17. These Boston Red Sox have no intention of giving up second place in the American League. The two game advantage they hold over the Indians is a margin they plan to defend.

Instead of collapsing as they do on these western junkies, the Red Sox are determined to hold on to their position. They have taken two out of three games from the Indians. This third game was a fair one, as much as a surprise to the Sox as it was to Cleveland. Archie McKa, one of the Sox's independent players, came up with a sterling effort to ruin the work of Denny Galehouse who gave out four hits until he was a little tired.

There was no beating Archie McKa who toyed with the Indian pitchers and was touched for a pair of homers and doubles. With this game now down to the Sox, Manager Jim Crowley and Jack Wilson after the final game of the year for the Boston team. Wilson has had an in and out year depending on the condition of his arm. When he has been hot, the Coast fire ball hurler has been unshakable. Of late, the pitcher seems to have left his fiery whip and the Sox are banking heavily on Wilson's right arm.

Tackles Big Worry At Harvard

The old adage that a football team is only as good as its tackles may prove to hold the key to Harvard's success on the gridiron this fall.

Head Coach Dick Harlow has one tackle, Ken Booth of Quincy, who stands head and shoulders above his nearest competitor for the position. Booth is Harlow's only experienced tackle, a rugged, 195-pounder around whom the Crimson coach must build his line.

Decidedly lacking in heavy-duty action, but spirited and willing, can be listed the rest of the tackle squad who are waging a merry battle for the reserve berth behind Booth and also for the right to fill Alex Kewonkian's shoes at the other, or long tackle position.

In order to fill these key locations on his forward wall, Harlow must rely entirely on relatively inexperienced juniors and sophomores. Tom Healey, 198-pounder from Worcester, appears to have the edge at left tackle, although he will be constantly pressed by Hingham's blond giant weightman, George Downing. Pete Elser of New York and Kent School is making rapid strides under the tutelage of Line Coach Loyal Clark and may yet make varsity ratings.

Moses Hallett, Syoset, N. Y. Junior, was recently promoted to the Crimson jersey squad by Harlow and will be Booth's understudy this year.

FRICK TO DROP THREE N. L. UMPIRES

By BILL GRIMES

Little Willie Turness, the colorful, likeable former caddy, who captained the Holy Cross golf team last spring and who for three years has held the New England Intercollegiate title, has been given the call over Pat Abbott in the finals of the 424 national amateur championship today at Cukmont.

Although his six brothers, all of whom are professionals, have opposed Willie leaving the amateur ranks, a victory today might cause an about face by the Turness family. "Tiny" Parker, may be making his final appearance as an umpire here this afternoon and it is said that at least three arbitrators will bow out of the Frick loop at the end of this season.

Up to the present writing, Dartmouth had done some very clever covering up. . . Little has been heard of the last year's freshman stars, who are on the varsity squad. For accusing the Big Green of proselytizing during one of its famous "off the record" meetings, a well known university is going to get its ears pinned back late next month.

But, due to the fact that it needs

Jack Lamb To Show True Fly Casting

Jack Lamb, world's champion fisherman, author and magazine writer, will give an exhibition of bait and fly casting at the ninth annual field day of the sportsman's clubs of the Middlesex County League tomorrow at the Maynard Rod and Gun Club grounds, Hudson.

Lamb, who bears the reputation of the "perfect sportsman," has the astonishing record of having caught 35,000 bass in his 25 years of fishing. He rarely kept the fish, however, returning most of them to the water.

In addition to this world-renowned fisherman the committee has also arranged for the appearance of Billy Hill, noted marksman. Hill will give an exhibition of rifle shooting at moving targets.

The remainder of the program includes pistol exhibit by Joe Kelley, Shaw sisters in pony riding, sket and trap shooting, con and fox trial, rodeo, dog show and many other sports events.

They're off—No, not the races at Rockingham Park, but the grand schoolboy scholastic football parade.

This afternoon, rabid schoolboy fans are expected to turn out in large numbers as no less than 16 schools open the '38 gridiron campaign.

Somerville, Peabody in Easy Wins

Peabody 19, Lynn Classical 0! Somerville 14, Cambridge 0!

Thus the Peabody and Somerville eleven opened their gridiron campaigns by routing their respective foes and serving early notice that they would be reckoned with in the state title scramble.

The new Manning Bowl in Lynn was the site of the arduous skirmish between Peabody's high powered club and Lynn's outclassed Classical.

At Dilboy Field, a well drilled Somerville eleven wreaked havoc in the ranks of Cambridge Latin as they tallied in the first and second periods and then held on for the remainder of the contest, constituting an easy 14 to 0 victory.

Most of the schools will be meeting their traditional opening day rivals, a few starting their first year in the big time, and one goes so far as to open with an inter-sectional rival.

The spotlight will be focused mostly around the intersectional game between Marblehead and the Yellow Jackets from Port Arthur High school, Texas. In this clash, the Tanners will be seeking their first win over the Texans in three tries.

Closely following this battle will be the Saugus-Medford tangle at Medford Saugus, led by Buzz Harvey and Nick Morris, will be making their first bid against a big time school.

WAKEFIELD AT MALDEN

The Wakefield at Malden and Revere at Melrose clashes also are headline attractions.

The other engagements also are expected to provide plenty of fireworks. At Waltham, Jack Leary, eleven will face the same in Mitch Metivier's Rindge Tech boys. Coach Jim Moran, starting his second year at Boston College High and having prospects for a bright year, will have a chance to score his first major triumph at Watertown high's expense.

One game that might bear surprising news will be the Gloucester - Newburyport get - together. Coach Nate Rose has almost a veteran eleven with the Curcuro brothers and Morter Albert as the main cogs to throw at the "Pike" boys who are starting their first year under the tutelage of E. C. Oscoe Gilman.

More games are on tap but they seem to be of the setup assortment.

Brouillard Opens Drive For Title

Latching Lou Brouillard of Worcester will go gunning for a quick knockout victory over Joe Glasgow, Quincy, in one of the 10-round feature bouts of the Goodwin A. C. boxing show next Friday night at the Garden in order to convince Eastern fight experts that he's still to be considered as a contender for the world's middleweight championship.

Reading in the sports pages today that Fred Apostoli and Young Corbett have been signed to fight for the world's crown (as viewed by the N. Y. moguls who refuse to recognize Al Hosaki) in November, Lou was given new incentive.

"Corbett, who must be around 40, beat Apostoli before and he'll do it again," Brouillard pointed out.

"He'll be the champion then, at least in N. Y., and they'll be looking for someone to fight him around December. There's one fighter I'd like to tackle, Young Corbett, who has been around much longer than I have and they're calling me a 'veteran.'"

Lou has convinced himself that he can regain the world's middleweight championship with the opposition in front of him none too imposing.

Little Scores Hits Hornets' Nest

WOODBRIDGE, Conn., Sept. 17 (AP)—Lawson Little, a leading professional golfer playing an 18-hole exhibition match at the Woodbridge Hills Country Club, made a hole-in-one-hornets' nest.

In driving off the fifth tee, Little sliced to the right and the ball zipped into a clump of trees. The gallery temporarily lost all interest in the match.

Lady Infinite Dave's Choice

By DAVE WILSON
Selections for Fast Track

BEST BET—LADY INFINITE, FOURTH RACE

ROCKINGHAM PARK, Salem, N. H., Sept. 17—Rough Time, champion sprinter of the New England area in 1937, will run back to his great old form at Rockingham Park in the $3000-added Col. Arthur J. Pierce handicap at six furlongs, and will capture top money over a field that includes Natty Boy and Wise Prince, winners of two important stakes at the Narragansett meeting.

This is crawling out to the tip end of the limb, and hanging on by the finger-nail, says Mr. J. Yancy Christmas has given his champion two splendid conditions, and only a few nights ago, he worked Rough Time in furlongs under the arc lights in 1:15.3 with a boy of the general size and shape of Man Mountain Dean in the saddle.

FIRST RACE

Griewrack, Bruneta, Pitychley
GRIEWACK zoomed eight panels in 1:41.2-3 to win pulled up from PITYCHLEY and others on opening day. The Pette-Frank filly picks up only five additional pounds, but must be rated a leading filly over the cheap field listed for the opener. BRUNETTA, which knocked out a cheap heat at Ganett shapes up as the only danger. PITYCHLEY was a tired and distant second to the top selection.

SECOND RACE

Rippler, High Place, Grisette
RIPPLER drubbed Savant in 1:12.1-3 at Narragansett Park. Solly Ruthechick's charge drops a single pound off that splendid effort and the speed, change of pace, him a whole skyful of stars. HIGH PLACE and GRISSETTE figure close under the weight arrangements.

THIRD RACE

Frozen Mask, Chancer, Censor
FROZEN MASK, a creditable third to Lady Infinite on opening day, is meeting cheaper company in the third race, and she figures to gallop. CHANCER, nosed out by Veiled Lady in his most recent race, shapes up better than CENSOR.

FOURTH RACE

Lady Infinite, Fordina, May R.
LADY INFINITE whirled six furlongs in 1:12.2-3 to win eased up on opening day, and there's no telling just how good she may be. FORDINA, close up in several swiftly-run races at Narragansett, shapes up as the main danger. MAY R., on top New York races, should prove difficult to crowd out of the picture.

FIFTH RACE

Bough Time, Natty Boy, Wise Prince
ROUGH TIME should make every post a winning one. NATTY BOY figures to hang on long enough to outlast WISE PRINCE.

SIXTH RACE

Dolly Val, Panther Creek, Eastport
DOLLY VAL, fourth to Drudgery in the Framingham Handicap and ahead of three, barely beaten by Could Be shapes up as the logical choice in the sixth race. PANTHER CREEK, which just missed drubbing Drudgery in the Framingham, looks next best at the distance. EASTPORT holds considerable class and can take it all.

Dolly Val Cocker's Best Bet

By BILL SMITH

BEST BET—DOLLY VAL—SIXTH

Dolly Val should mow her field down in the sixth race at Rockingham Park this afternoon.

SEVENTH RACE

Buster Boy, Weary Flower, Mary Elise

BUSTER BOY, third to O'Banham and Whicaway at Narragansett Park, shapes up as the probable winner of the seventh race. WEARY FLOWER drubbed the top selection at Narragansett, but she has a weight shift of 12 pounds against her chances. MARY ELISE is dropping down from a good effort in better company, and she must be respected.

EIGHTH RACE

Officiate, Khay, Head Hunter
OFFICIATE was barely beaten by Prince Sador in his only start of the current meeting, and he is worthy of another chance. KHAY, the main danger, was beaten off by the top selection in the above race. HEAD HUNTER, on a winning race at Saratoga, should grab off some portion of the spoils.

Eagles Romp Over 'Whizzer's' Team

NEWMARKET, N. H., Sept. 17—Gene Trinkle, Rhode Island State dirt track auto champion, will race his high-powered car in the 20-mile sweepstakes at the speedway here Sunday.

Along with Trinkle will be Ed Cataline, Joe Seftell, "Bumpy" Buncum, Bill Fox, Bob King, Dixie Vance and others from the Bay State, while Sonny Martin of Newmarket will be the New Hampshire representative.

It is expected that Jerri May of Schenectady, N. Y., will start in the whirl, along with others from Troy, N. Y., and New Jersey.

New Record

Babe Cards 292
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 17 (INS)—Mildred "Babe" Didrikson set a world record for women in the Southern California open golf championship, won by Joe Robinson of Los Angeles with a total of 272.

The "Babe's" total for 72 holes was 292. The best previous feminine mark for 72 holes, according to the records, was 308 made by Patty Berg, amateur runner up in last year's women's national championship tourney.

'Bugs' Says:

Buccs Still Tottering

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
 (Copyright 1938 by International News Service)

Pirates managed to totter along in first place by splitting with Boston. One thing you can say about Pittsburgh. They are tottering about as fast as anybody in the league.

They managed to hang onto a three-game edge over the Cubs who dogged it because of threatening weather. The Cards did something to Brooklyn but what difference does it make?

Bartell's massacred pinkie puts the Giants out like a cat at night. Their chances aren't worth counting. Frankie Frisch says the Giants will win the pennant. But that's the only way a manager can get into it, he says. He would rather talk and be charged with an error than stand around giving the numbers to the back of the umpire's neck.

Tony Galente is still AAL chandler. A citation that is both a compliment and a sauce. We don't know how they rate him above Gurnar. But the commission's statements are as final as a pall bearer's high hat.

Nobody knows how the commission reaches its decisions. Certainly not from observation and statistics. They must cook 'em up in a sort of witches' brew like the three old gals in Macbeth. We are certain there must be powdered spiders and livers of adders in them.

The Cubs took the edge off the baseball calendar by being bulldozed by the grimacing weather. If they play today they've ended the race will tighten up like an old maid's nerves in a creaky boarding house.

The Yanks have informed Judge Landis they have 70,929 narrow and wide-gauge seats for the World Series. They can accommodate any type of fan. Especially if he stands up.

If they peddle all the seats each game will hatch $297,577.00 which isn't hay. Leastwise, we never saw that stuff sticking out of barns. If the Pirates win there will be a game played every day. There will be no interruptions in separating the fans from their gracy.

There must be some secret of success in the tottering of the Pirates. It is always in the right direction. A three-game lead in the middle of September is almost as good as a license to steal. Even at that the next two weeks may develop a race better than a t ker's shovel.

We skipped the Philadelphia fight. The boys seem to think a lot of Adams, who almost kissed John Henry Lewis off in the last round. We saw Adams fight some slippery-beaked mugg in Minneapolis last winter and Jimmy stretched him in a round. It looks like John Henry Lewis is on his way south by east. He was a good fighter, but so were Custer and Grant.
